

We are a couple with some experience in individual travelling in tropical countries. We are Europeans and come from Germany. In March 2015, we have been on Mahe for three weeks. The starting point for the excursions was a guesthouse in Beau Vallon Beach. For ten days we rented a small car. On the visit of Praslin and La Digue, we have omitted to avoid stress. On Mahe, we did not run through the maximum programme. We focused on enjoying, snorkelling, good food, many conversations and stress-free watching. Amphibious life was essential, scrambling in the jungle did not occur. The report is written from a personal point of view, including critical remarks and thoughts. We were newbies and browsed several sources on the internet in advance. Some do not strive for specific business interests, in others the commercial intention is quite evident. I add a little sapling to the jungle of information which may help other newcomers with orientation. The little book is illustrated with more than 20 coloured photos.
